COMPANY HISTORY & PRINCIPALS

ACIMA Private Wealth LLC (“ACIMA” or the “Firm” “we” or “us”) is a limited liability company formed in the State of Virginia. ACIMA was founded in May 2015 as a fee-only investment advisory firm with the intent to provide exceptional service to high-net-worth individuals, families, trusts, charitable foundations and institutions. As of May, 2017, the Firm is registered as an investment adviser with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”).

Gary M. Gore is the Founder and Managing Member of ACIMA. He serves as President and Chief Executive Officer and is the principal owner of the Firm. ACIMA’s purpose is to implement integrated wealth management solutions that meet the financial needs and reflect the personal values of our clients. The Firm’s focus will be to assist our clients in identifying and achieving their personal and financial objectives in collaboration with their professional advisers.

Clients will work with a personal adviser who has skills and experience serving high-net-worth clients, families and institutions. Clients will work with advisers who have built relationships based on trust with clients they know and understand, and who are flexible, unbiased and conflict-free decision makers.

Prior to founding ACIMA, Mr. Gore spent 25 years in the financial services industry. During that time, he held several key positions serving corporations, private businesses, families and individuals. Most recently, he served as the Regional Executive and Managing Director of U.S. Trust, catering to the holistic wealth management needs of high-net-worth and ultra-high-net-worth individuals, families and institutions, with responsibility for $15 billion in assets under management. Concurrently, he served as the Virginia State President for Bank of America, the parent company to U.S. Trust, as well as the Richmond Market President.

INVESTMENT ADVISORY SERVICES

ACIMA follows an investment philosophy that is uniquely disciplined, customized, tax/fee-sensitive and takes an open architecture approach that may incorporate active and passive strategies. We provide investment advisory services to individuals, high-net-worth individuals, trusts, endowments, small businesses, family offices and other institutional clients through separately managed accounts. Continuous advice is provided to a client regarding the investment of client funds and is based on the individual needs of the client. Through discussions with our clients, we come to understand our clients’ objectives, goals and particular circumstances. We then develop a client’s personal investment policy statement, recommending and managing a portfolio based upon that policy statement. During our data gathering process, we determine the client’s individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. As appropriate, we also review and discuss a client’s prior investment history, as well as family composition and background.

We manage these advisory accounts on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the client’s stated objectives (i.e., capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors.

Our investment recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company and may include advice regarding the following types of securities: exchange-listed securities, securities traded over-the-counter, foreign issuers, corporate debt securities (other than commercial paper), commodities, municipal securities, mutual fund (institutional shares), United States governmental securities, options, alternative investments and/or annuities. Because some types of investments involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be implemented/recommended when consistent with the client’s stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity and suitability.

FINANCIAL PLANNING

ACIMA provides financial planning services to its clientele. Financial planning is an evaluation of a client’s current and future financial state by using currently known variables to predict future cash flows, asset values and withdrawal plans. Through the financial planning process, all questions, information and analysis are considered as they impact and are impacted by the entire financial and life situation of the client. Clients utilizing this service receive a written report providing the client with a detailed financial plan designed to assist the client in achieving stated financial goals and objectives.

We gather required information through in-depth personal interviews. Information gathered includes the client's current financial status, tax status, future goals, returns objectives and attitudes towards risk. We carefully review documents supplied by the client, including a questionnaire completed by the client, and prepare a written report. Should the client choose to implement the recommendations contained in the plan, we suggest the client work closely with his/her attorney, accountant, insurance agent, and/or stockbroker. Implementation of financial plan recommendations is entirely at the client's discretion. We also provide general non-securities advice on topics that may include tax and budgetary planning, estate planning and business planning.

FAMILY WEALTH SERVICES

ACIMA provides an integrated wealth management service which includes multi-generational planning, financial education, strategies for funding trusts, advice on charitable giving, personalized reporting, concierge services and coordination with a client's other business professionals to assist in risk management strategies. Our clients are often involved in complex financial situations across multiple disciplines that require comprehensive, integrated, and objective advice. ACIMA advisers will apply their deep understanding of these unique and complex requirements to develop the most suitable solution.

The process begins with an extensive review of the client's goals, objectives, dreams and aspirations to develop a strategic plan. The plan includes details from current needs to goals for future generations. We assist in funding trusts, philanthropic planning, risk management analysis, household administration and coordinating with other service providers in regards to estate planning, asset titling and protection.

ACIMA PRIVATE WEALTH WRAP FEE PROGRAM

ACIMA serves as a program sponsor and portfolio manager for its own wrap fee program, the ACIMA Private Wealth Program (the "Program"). If a client participates in the Program, they will pay a single fee which includes financial planning, investment management, portfolio monitoring and financial plan management services as well as custodial and administrative costs incurred within their account(s). An appropriate wrap fee program brochure has been created and will be presented to the client by ACIMA prior to investing in the Program. The Firm's "Wrap Fee Program Brochure" is available upon request at any time by calling the Chief Compliance Officer at (804) 422-8450.

SELECTION OF THIRD PARTY ADVISORS

ACIMA may recommend the investment strategies of third party advisers ("TPAs") to its clients. At this time, ACIMA has no arrangements in place with a TPA. In the future, if a TPA is selected to manage a portion of a client's assets, the client will execute a separate investment management agreement with the TPA. The TPA selected may offer its services through its own wrap fee program. If a wrap fee program is selected for a portion of a client's assets in the future, the Form ADV Part 2A and the wrap fee brochure for the TPA's program will be presented to the client. The TPA's Wrap Fee Program Brochure will describe the investment strategy as well as the fees and services to be performed by the TPA. ACIMA will not receive a referral fee or participate in any revenue sharing with the TPA.

ASSETS UNDER MANAGEMENT

As of March 26, 2018, ACIMA manages $133,528,903 on a discretionary basis and no assets on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

It is ACIMA's goal to provide comprehensive financial planning and analysis to its clients which will then yield an appropriate portfolio investment recommendation. The Firm would then provide ongoing investment management, portfolio monitoring and financial plan management services as well as custodial and administrative costs for the client with a minimum household balance of $5,000,000.

Asset Based Fee:

Asset based Advisory Fees are assessed and collected quarterly, in advance, based upon the previous quarter ends household balance. Many factors determine proposed fees rates, including size, complexity and composition of the services to be provided. While fees are negotiable based upon these factors, ACIMA's investment advisory fee structure, including participating in the wrap fee program, will be based on assets under management as follows:

First $1,000,000	1.25% per year
Next $2,000,000	1.00% per year
Next $2,000,000	0.75% per year
Next $5,000,000	0.65% per year
Over $10,000,000	0.50% per year

Upon execution of the client agreement, the initial prorated fee for the remainder of the calendar quarter will be assessed and collected. The Advisory Fee will then be assessed and collected after each calendar quarter end. Asset based advisory fees are prorated for any significant capital contribution made into a managed account following the initial establishment of a managed account during the applicable calendar quarter as outlined in the client's written agreement.

Flat, Annual Fee:

In certain circumstances, the Firm may assess a flat, annual fee for advisory services that will not exceed $250,000 for ultra, high-net-worth clients if requested. The negotiation of a flat, annual fee will be based on the size, scope and services requested by the client. Upon execution of the client agreement, the initial prorated fee for the remainder of the calendar quarter will be assessed and collected. One quarter of the annual fee will then be assessed and collected at the end of each calendar quarter for the upcoming quarter.

Fee Terms:

The following terms apply to client accounts with asset based fees as well as flat, annual fees:

All advisory fees and household minimums are subject to negotiation. ACIMA may offer discounted rates to its employees and their families as well as to institutional and ultra, high-net-worth clients with substantial account balances.

All advisory fees for the Program are inclusive of brokerage commissions, transactions fees and other related costs and expenses which shall typically be incurred in a client's account(s). Mutual funds, exchanged traded funds and annuities all charge internal management fees and other expenses, which are disclosed in a fund's or annuity's prospectus or equivalent disclosure document and are directly deducted from the value of such investment vehicles. ACIMA does not retain 12b-1 fees or other sales charges and commissions on the accounts of advisory clients. Clients who choose to participate in the Program will also receive a copy of the Wrap Fee Program Brochure. At the Firm's discretion, a client may not be required to participate in the Program and will instead be responsible for all brokerage commissions, transactions fees and other related costs and expenses which shall typically be incurred in a client's account(s).

In the event a TPA is engaged for a client, the client will be required to execute a separate agreement with the TPA. The selection of a TPA by ACIMA will not be done under a solicitor's or any other type of referral arrangement. ACIMA does not receive any fees from the TPA. The client will be responsible for the additional advisory fees as provided by the TPA's agreement.

The specific manner in which advisory fees are charged and how much is charged by ACIMA is established in a client's written agreement with ACIMA. Investment advisory fees are billed quarterly in advance and are usually debited by the custodian from a client's custodial account and remitted by the custodian to ACIMA. The fee will be applied to the client's closing account balances as of the last day of each calendar quarter.

Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be refunded, and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable. If Client terminates this Agreement within five (5) business days of its signing, Client shall receive a full refund of all fees and expenses. If this Agreement is terminated after five (5) business days of its signing, upon Client's request, any prepaid fees will be prorated and the unused portion be returned to Client.

The client will provide written authorization permitting the fees to be paid directly from client accounts held by the qualified custodian. Further, the qualified custodian agrees to deliver an account statement at least quarterly directly to the client, indicating all the amounts deducted from the account, including all advisory fees. Clients are encouraged to review their account statements for accuracy. ACIMA will receive a duplicate copy of the custodian's statement that is delivered to clients.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

ACIMA will not charge performance-based fees where an adviser's fee would be based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the client assets. As such, there are no conflicts of interest to disclose at this time.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

As described in Item 4, ACIMA provides investment advisory services to individuals, high-net-worth individuals, trusts, endowments, small businesses, family offices and other institutional clients through separately managed accounts. Our typical clients are experienced and comfortable with saving and investing for their retirement and their family's future, board members and/or trustees acting on behalf of the trust for an organization they represent, and employer/business owner looking for an advisory group to assist them in making prudent investment decisions. Clients are typically required to have a minimum household balance of $5,000,000 to have assets managed by ACIMA. All advisory fees and household minimums are subject to negotiation.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

ACIMA may use any of the following methods of analysis in formulating their investment advice and/or managing client assets:

Fundamental Analysis. We attempt to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions and the financial condition and management of the company itself) to determine if the company is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be time to sell). Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. Doing so presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock.

Technical Analysis. We analyze past market movements and apply that analysis to the present in an attempt to recognize recurring patterns of investor behavior and potentially predict future price movement. Technical analysis does not consider the underlying financial condition of a company. Doing so presents a risk in that a poorly-managed or financially unsound company may underperform regardless of market movement.

Cyclical Analysis. In this type of technical analysis, we measure the movements of a particular stock against the overall market in an attempt to predict the price movement of the security.

Quantitative Analysis. We use mathematical models in an attempt to obtain more accurate measurements of a company's quantifiable data, such as the value of a share price or earnings per share, and predict changes to that data. A risk in using quantitative analysis is that the models used may be based on assumptions that prove to be incorrect.

Qualitative Analysis. We subjectively evaluate non-quantifiable factors such as quality of management, labor relations, and strength of research and development factors not readily subject to measurement, and predict changes to share price based on that data. A risk in using qualitative analysis is that our subjective judgment may prove incorrect.

Asset Allocation. Rather than focusing primarily on securities selection, we attempt to identify an appropriate ratio of securities, fixed income and cash suitable to the client's investment goals and risk tolerance. A risk of asset allocation is that the client may not participate in sharp increases in a particular security, industry or market sector. Another risk is that the ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash will change over time due to stock and market movements and, if not corrected, will no longer be appropriate for the client's goals.

Mutual Fund and/or ETF Analysis. We look at the experience and track record of the manager of the mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We also look at the underlying assets in a mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if there is significant overlap in the underlying investments held in another fund(s) in the client's portfolio. We also monitor the funds or ETFs in an attempt to determine if they are continuing to follow their stated investment strategy. A risk of mutual fund and/or ETF analysis is that, as in all securities investments, past performance does not guarantee future results. A manager who has been successful may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a fund or ETF, managers of different funds held by the client may purchase the same security, increasing the risk to the client if that security were to fall in value. There is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the fund or ETF, which could make the holding(s) less suitable for the client's portfolio.

Our securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

ACIMA may use any of the following strategy(ies) in managing client accounts, provided that such strategy(ies) are appropriate to the needs of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance and time horizon.

Long-term purchases. ACIMA may purchase securities with the idea of holding them in the client's account for a year or longer. Typically, we employ this strategy when we believe the securities to be currently undervalued, and/or we want exposure to a particular asset class over time, regardless of the current projection for this class. A risk in a long-term purchase strategy is that by holding the security for this length of time, we may not take advantage of short-term gains that could be profitable to a client. Moreover, if our predictions are incorrect, a security may decline sharply in value before we make the decision to sell.

Short-term purchases. When utilizing this strategy, ACIMA purchases securities with the idea of selling them within a relatively short time (typically a year or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of conditions that we believe will soon result in a price swing in the securities we purchase.

Tactical asset allocation. With this strategy, ACIMA may use a range of percentages in each asset class; minimum and maximum percentages permit clients to take advantage of market conditions within these parameters. The percentages are guidelines only.

Strategic asset allocation. ACIMA will set target allocations with this strategy, which will be periodically rebalanced to maintain desired allocation percentages. The allocation may change over time as clients' objectives change.

RISK OF LOSS

Based upon ACIMA's analysis of the client's financial situation and financial plan, the Firm will recommend an appropriate investment strategy for the client's accounts; however, all investment strategies have a risk of loss. Investing in securities involves certain risks. Securities may fluctuate in value or lose value. Clients should be prepared to bear the potential risk of loss. While risk can be, and by common industry practice often is, measured by the degree of unpredictability of a given portfolio's return in any given period, it also includes the possibility of losing some or all of an original investment. Even the most conservative investment strategy is subject to risk.

All investment programs carry the risk of loss and there is no guarantee that any recommended investment strategy will meet its objectives.

All investment strategies inherently expose our clients to various types and varying degrees of risk. Below, we discuss those risks in greater detail:

- Political Risks. Most investments have a global component, even domestic stocks. Political events anywhere in the world may have unforeseen consequences to markets around the world.
- General Market Risks. Markets can, as a whole, go up or down after various news releases or for no understandable reason at all. This sometimes means that the price of specific securities could go up or down without real reason, and may take some time to recover any lost value. Adding additional securities does not help to minimize this risk since all securities may be affected by market fluctuations.
- Currency Risk. Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Derivatives Risk. Investments in futures and options are considered "derivative" investments. A small investment in derivatives could have a potentially large impact on performance. The use of derivatives involves risks different from or possibly greater than the risks associated with investing directly in the underlying assets. Derivatives can be highly volatile, illiquid and difficult to value. There is the risk that the hedging technique will fail if changes in the value of a derivative held do not correlate with the portfolio securities being hedged.
- Regulatory Risk. Changes in laws and regulations from any government can change the value of a given company and its accompanying securities. Certain industries are more susceptible to government regulation. Changes in zoning, tax structure or laws impact the return on these investments.
- Risks Related to Investment Term. If a client requires a liquidation of their portfolio during a period in which the price of the security is low, the client may not realize as much value as they might have had the investment had the opportunity to regain its value, as investments frequently do, or had it been able to be reinvested in another security.
- Purchasing Power Risk. Purchasing power risk is the risk that an investment's value will decline as the price of goods rises (inflation). The investment's value itself does not decline, but its relative value does. Inflation can happen for a variety of complex reasons, including a growing economy and a rising money supply.
- Business Risk. Many investments, including many Index Funds and Target-Date Funds, contain interests in operating businesses. Business risks are risks associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk. Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not. Some securities are highly liquid while others are highly illiquid. Illiquid investments carry more risk because it can be difficult to sell them.
- Financial Risk. Many investments, including many Index Funds and Target-Date Funds, contain interests in operating businesses. Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations decreases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.
- Default Risk. This risk pertains to the ability of a company to service their debt. Ratings provided by several rating services help to identify those companies with more risk. Obligations of the U.S. government are said to be free of default risk.
- Management Risk. Investments may vary with the success and failure of investment strategies selected and implemented by the management of this Firm. If investment strategies do not produce the expected returns, the value of investments may decrease.

• Risk Associated with Options. Options carry no guarantees, and there is a possibility of losing the entire principal invested, and sometimes more. As an options holder, clients risk the entire amount of the premium paid. Options writers may face unlimited potential loss, for example, with an uncovered call, since there is no cap on how high a stock price can rise. Options on securities may also be subject to greater fluctuations in value than an investment in the underlying securities. Purchasing and writing put and call options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary investment risks.

• Risks Associated with Private Placement Offerings. Because private placement offerings are exempt from registration requirements at both the state and federal level, no regulator has reviewed the offerings to make sure the risks associated with the investment and all material facts about the entity raising money are adequately disclosed. Securities offered through private placements are generally illiquid, meaning there are limited opportunities to resell the security.

• Risks Associated with Alternative Investments. Alternative investment products, including real estate investments, notes & debentures, hedge funds and private equity involve a high degree of risk, often engage in leveraging and other speculative investment practices that may increase the risk of investment loss, can be highly illiquid, are not required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors, may involve complex tax structures and delays in distributing important tax information, are not subject to the same regulatory requirements as mutual funds, often charge high fees which may offset any trading profits, and, in many cases, the underlying investments are not transparent and are known only to the investment manager. Alternative investment performance can be volatile. An investor could lose all or a substantial amount of the investment. Often, alternative investment funds and account managers have total trading authority over their funds or accounts; the use of a single adviser applying generally similar trading programs could mean lack of diversification and, consequently, higher risk. There is often no secondary market for an investor's interest in alternative investments, and none is expected to develop. There may be restrictions on transferring interests in any alternative investment. Alternative investment products often execute a substantial portion of their trades on non-U.S. exchanges. Investing in foreign markets may entail risks that differ from those associated with investments in U.S. markets. Additionally, alternative investments often entail commodity trading, which involves substantial risk of loss.

• Risks Associated with Commodities. Commodities or commodity-linked investments may be subject to extreme changes in price due to supply factors, changes in the weather, and trade impacts.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

ACIMA does not have any legal, financial or other “disciplinary” item to report. ACIMA is obligated to disclose any disciplinary event that would be material to a client or perspective client when evaluating to initiate a Client/Adviser relationship, or to continue a Client /Adviser relationship with ACIMA. This statement applies to ACIMA and all employees registered with ACIMA.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

OTHER PROVIDERS

ACIMA maintains professional business relationships with various legal, accounting, recordkeeping, third-party administrators (TPAs) and other investment advisory and consulting firms both locally and around the country. These informal relationships are created to share industry information and insight. ACIMA does not receive any compensation or shared revenue with any of these entities; therefore, these relationships hold no conflict of interest for our clients.

THIRD-PARTY INVESTMENT ADVISERS

ACIMA may offer clients a specific third-party investment management program made available directly to ACIMA for our clients. These third-party managers are referred to as “separate account managers”. ACIMA receives no direct or indirect compensation from the third-party managers or sub-advisers for these arrangements.

SOLICITATION ARRANGEMENTS

ACIMA does not currently participate in any solicitation arrangements.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

The employees of ACIMA have committed to a Code of Ethics that establishes a high standard of integrity and professional ethics when conducting business with the Firm, its clients and its business vendors and partners. All ACIMA associates are required to review and sign a formal Code of Ethics adopted to comply with Rule 204(A)-1.

ACIMA's Code of Ethics provides for 1) a high ethical standard of conduct; 2) compliance with all federal and state securities laws; and 3) policies and procedures for the reporting of personal securities transactions on a quarterly basis as well as upon hire, and annually for all ACIMA's professionals and employees. The Chief Compliance Officer of ACIMA reviews on a regular basis employee personal trading accounts. The Chief Compliance Officer's trades are reviewed by the Chief Executive Officer of ACIMA or his designee. These reviews help ensure that the personal trading of employees complies with ACIMA's Code of Ethics.

ACIMA does not recommend to clients any securities in which ACIMA or its related persons have a material financial interest. It should be noted that some employees of ACIMA can be considered clients of the Firm and will have their personal trading accounts managed by the Firm's portfolio managers alongside its client's accounts. We do not feel this presents a conflict of interest because the minimal exposure that ACIMA's overall ownership of these securities (through client and employee accounts) would not have a significant impact on their pricing given the large capitalization and market liquidity of the securities recommended.

A copy of ACIMA's Code of Ethics is available to ACIMA's advisory clients upon written request to ACIMA's office address or by calling the Chief Compliance Officer via email at info@acimapw.com or via telephone at (804) 422-8450.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

For ACIMA's advisory clients, the Firm will select a custodian who is a nationally known qualified custodian. The Firm will not maintain custody of client accounts. The primary factors that will determine ACIMA's recommending a custodian to a client are, in no specific order, 1) Commission cost; 2) Automation and technology; 3) Services for independent RIAs; 4) Proper registration with SRO; 5) Execution capabilities, and; 6) Client preferences. ACIMA is not affiliated with any preferred custodians.

ACIMA will recommend broker-dealers and custodians to clients of the Firm in need of these services. ACIMA will normally only recommend those custodians where ACIMA has a business relationship that enables ACIMA efficient and cost-effective access to brokerage services to facilitate ACIMA's discretionary portfolio management services. No client is obligated to use any recommended custodian. In circumstances where a client wants to remain with their current custodian who is not a preferred custodian of ACIMA, we will provide advisory services to such a client. There is no advisory fee surcharge for any operational inconvenience to ACIMA.

At this time, for ACIMA's advisory clients, the preferred custodian will be Schwab Advisor Services, a division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab"), a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts.

RESEARCH AND OTHER SOFT DOLLAR BENEFITS

ACIMA's advisory business does not have any formal or informal arrangements or commitments to obtain any research or research-related products or services on a soft-dollar basis. However, due to the institutional relationships we have with our preferred custodian, we do receive services that assist ACIMA in managing and administering clients' accounts. These services may include software and other technology that (i) provide access to client data; (ii) facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts; (iii) provide research, pricing and other market data; (iv) facilitate payment of fees from its client accounts; and (v) assist Portfolio Operations with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Additionally, preferred custodians may provide third-party research, publications, access to educational conferences, roundtables and webinars or practice management resources. ACIMA does not typically utilize these services other than practice management or compliance related publications or seminars.

BROKERAGE FOR CLIENT REFERRALS

ACIMA does not receive client referrals from its custodians.

CLIENT DIRECTED BROKERAGE

ACIMA does not permit client directed brokerage.

All advisory clients of ACIMA should understand that any custodian recommendation made by ACIMA is a conflict of interest as ACIMA anticipates continual operational relationships with the custodians that we recommend. ACIMA does limited due diligence reviews of these firms, all of which are well-established, nationally-recognized broker-dealer/custodians; ACIMA only recommends them as a convenience to our clients.

OTHER ECONOMIC BENEFITS

At this time, for ACIMA's advisory clients, the preferred custodian will be Schwab Advisor Services, a division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab"), a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts. The final decision to custody assets with Schwab is at the discretion of the client, including those accounts under ERISA or IRA rules and regulations, in which case the client is acting as either the plan sponsor or IRA account holder. ACIMA is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab provides ACIMA with access to its institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them so long as a total of at least $10 million of the advisor's clients' assets are maintained in accounts at Schwab Advisor Services. Schwab's services include brokerage services that are related to the execution of securities transactions, custody, research, including that in the form of advice, analyses and reports, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment. For ACIMA client accounts maintained in its custody, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts.

Schwab also makes available to ACIMA other products and services that benefit ACIMA but may not benefit its clients' accounts. These benefits may include national, regional or ACIMA specific educational events organized and/or sponsored by Schwab Advisor Services. Other potential benefits may include occasional business entertainment of personnel of ACIMA by Schwab Advisor Services personnel, including meals, invitations to sporting events, including golf tournaments, and other forms of entertainment, some of which may accompany educational opportunities. Other of these products and services assist ACIMA in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology (and related technological training) that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of ACIMA's fees from its clients' accounts, and assist with back-office training and support functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or some substantial number of ACIMA accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab Advisor Services. Schwab Advisor Services also makes available to ACIMA other services intended to help ACIMA manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include professional compliance, legal and business consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, insurance and marketing. In addition, Schwab may make available, arrange and/or pay vendors for these types of services rendered to ACIMA by independent third parties. Schwab Advisor Services may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to ACIMA. While, as a fiduciary, ACIMA endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, ACIMA's recommendation/requirement that clients maintain their assets in accounts at Schwab may be based in part on the benefit to ACIMA of the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by Schwab, which may create a potential conflict of interest.

TRADE AGGREGATION

Transactions for each client account generally will be executed independently unless the Firm decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. ACIMA can, but is not obligated to, combine or "batch" such orders in an effort to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates or to allocate equitably among its clients' differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and transaction costs and will be allocated among ACIMA clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day. If ACIMA cannot obtain execution of all the combined orders at prices or for transactions costs that it believes are desirable, the Firm will allocate the securities that it does buy or sell as part of the combined orders by following ACIMA order allocation procedures.

TRADING AWAY/STEP-OUT TRADES

Step-out trading or “trading away” occurs when ACIMA’s portfolio managers determine it is in the best interest of the client to execute a trade with a broker-dealer other than the preferred custodian. The Firm’s purpose in stepping out a trade is to seek to improve the overall execution quality on the trade. In selecting a broker-dealer, ACIMA will consider, among other things, the broker’s or dealer’s execution capabilities, reputation, and access to the markets for the securities being traded. Additional fees charged by the custodian are included in your wrap fee. However, the broker-dealer engaged to implement the trade may have a markup which includes the broker-dealer’s fee. ACIMA does not permit step-out trades in a client account unless the client has granted the Firm the authority to do so. This is reflected in the investment management agreement signed by the client.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

RECONCILIATION OF CLIENT ACCOUNTS

The Adviser will regularly monitor the investments in client accounts and perform at least quarterly reviews of account holdings for all clients. Client accounts are reviewed for consistency with client investment strategy and objectives, compliance with investment restrictions provided by the client, asset allocation, risk tolerance and performance relative to the appropriate benchmark. More frequent reviews may be triggered by changes in a clients’ personal, tax or financial status.

ACIMA monitors on a continuous basis the securities it recommends for its client’s portfolios. Clients will receive monthly statements from the custodian for each household account held by the custodian. If the client’s account has no activity, the custodian, at a minimum, will provide a quarterly statement. The custodian’s statement will include information about the assets held in the account, the current value of each asset, as well as reflect the deduction of any fees from the client’s account. Clients are encouraged to review their statements for discrepancies.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

ACIMA and its representatives do not receive any sales awards or prizes as compensation from any third-party provider that it recommends. The receipt of such gifts would be a violation of ACIMA’s Code of Ethics.

As a matter of policy and practice, ACIMA does not compensate any third-party persons, either individuals or entities, for the referral of advisory clients to the firm unless a formal solicitor’s agreement has been entered into with a Registered Investment Adviser Representative (“RIAR”) or with such person’s supervising firm which is a Registered Investment Adviser (“RIA”). ACIMA does not increase its advisory fees in order to compensate a solicitor. The solicitor receives a portion of the advisory fee collected.

When such an agreement is entered into, it specifies the percentage of the client fees that are to be paid as solicitor’s fees and requires the solicitor to provide written disclosure of his arrangement with ACIMA, including his or her method of compensation, to the client via a signed disclosure statement. The client’s countersignature is required on the disclosure statement prior to ACIMA executing any trades.

Item 15 – Custody

Client accounts will be held with a qualified custodian who will maintain custody of the client accounts. ACIMA will not maintain custody of clients' funds or securities, with the exception of deducting the adviser fee from client(s)' accounts as authorized by the client in the executed advisory agreement. ACIMA's advisory, financial planning and family wealth services are offered inclusive of all trading costs and expenses related to managing a client's account. ACIMA is not affiliated with any third-party custodian. ACIMA is not responsible for the errors made by the custodian.

Clients will receive monthly statements for each household account held by a custodian. If the client's account has no activity, the custodian will at a minimum provide a quarterly statement. The custodian's statement will include information about the assets held in the account, the current value of each asset, and will reflect the deduction of any advisory fees from the client's account. On a quarterly basis, the firm will submit an invoice to the custodian as well as to the client regarding the calculation of advisory fees. Clients are encouraged to compare the invoice to their statements for discrepancies. The method of delivery for accounts statements and invoices (postal service versus secure electronic delivery) is determined by the individual client.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

ACIMA receives discretionary authority from most of its clients at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the types of securities as well as the allocation of those securities in a client's account(s). This is documented normally via a client's execution of a written agreement between the client and ACIMA. Additionally, the custodian will require the client to execute a limited power of attorney ("LPOA") when opening or turning over the custodial account to ACIMA's discretionary management. The LPOA will grant ACIMA the authority to 1) trade securities on the client's behalf in the account, 2) authorize the disbursement of ACIMA's quarterly investment advisory fee and 3) authorize ACIMA to instruct the custodian to disburse a check or money electronic transfers from the client's custodial account to their address of record or, with additional paperwork signed by the client, to a bank account registered in the client's name. In the event a client requires the Firm to manage an account on a non-discretionary basis, ACIMA will not be able to trade a client's account without the client's written consent.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, ACIMA does not accept any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in accounts. All proxy notices are forwarded directly to the clients by the account custodians as has been indicated on the client's custodial account application. Within ACIMA's written agreements, proxy voting responsibility remains specifically with the client. A complete copy of ACIMA's proxy voting policy can be obtained by sending a request to ACIMA's Chief Compliance Officer via email at info@acimapw.com or via telephone at (804) 422-8450. If a client has a question regarding a proxy notice that they have received, they should speak with their investment adviser to review the content of the proxy. However, the decision as to how to vote a proxy will remain with the client.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required in this Item to provide certain financial information or disclosures about their financial condition. ACIMA has no financial commitment or condition that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

A balance sheet is not required to be provided because ACIMA does not serve as a custodian for client funds or securities and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client six months or more in advance.
